

(初一)

2020TEENS报刊课
第28期 (上)

杨为 广东省东莞外国语学校

21st Century

TEENS *Junior*¹

第28/688期初 一 课件
作者 杨为

Pre-reading

1. Students can not go to school and should have on-line study at home because of _____ .

- A. the Spring festival
- C. Bad weather.

- B. the coronavirus outbreak
- D. Sad feelings.

/kə,rəʊnə'vaɪərəs/

2. During this Spring Holiday, we should _____ .

- A. visit relatives
- C. hang out with friends

- B. go to the theatre
- D. stay at home

Pre-reading

3. Will staying at home for two months be a problem for you? Why or why not?

Liu Yixing &
Li Yusheng

Ma Qichao

Matthew Lee

Staying in is no problem

1. What did they do?

Liu Yixing & Li Yusheng

Ma Qichao

Matthew Lee

Staying in is no problem

青少年在家“抗疫”，用创意鼓舞人心。

词数 540 测试见IV版
建议阅读时间 13分钟

It's been a long holiday. Because of the virus outbreak (爆发), many of us have already stayed at home for more than a month! How did you spend your time? Have you done anything special? During this difficult period, some teenagers have come up with new and interesting things to do. They have not only shown how creative they are, but also helped to cheer up (鼓舞) those who are feeling down. Let's see what they've been up to.

TEENS

Write a rap song

"I close my eyes and pray (祈祷) hoping everything will be OK/ the one who can save you is not God/ but an ordinary man in flesh and blood (血肉之躯)."

These are a few lines from a rap song written by Liu Yixin and Li Yusheng. They are Senior 3 students from The High School Affiliated to Renmin University in Beijing. Titled An Empty City (《空城》), the song has become a hit and touched many people. Liu told China Youth Daily that he has read many news stories recently, both good and bad. He wanted to express (表达) his own ideas with this song. "I love making music and used to have my own band. Music is the best way for me to express myself. After the college entrance exam this year, I'll make more," Liu said.

Encourage people to dance

Matthew Lee is a 16-year-old Chinese-American. He is now living in Los Angeles, US, but still feels worried about the outbreak in China. When he learned that most Chinese are unable to leave their houses, he decided to encourage them to exercise at home. So he made a dance video with his friends and posted it online. "My friend Jojo was excited about the chance to lift people's spirits (心情), and she said she would dance her heart out," Lee told TEENS. For the cooldown part of the dance, Lee chose the song We Are The World. As Lee said, "I believe that with sweat (汗水) and smiles, together, we will make a better day."

扫码可观看 Matthew Lee 的“挥汗战役”加油舞视频。

Write an English poem

Ma Qichao is a junior 2 student from Baoding, Hebei. Having to stay at home during the outbreak, Ma and his classmates wrote several acrostic poems (藏头诗) in English to help cheer people up. "My teacher suggested this form. I found it quite interesting. You can hide a message in the first letters of each line and surprise your readers as they read downwards," Ma said. "The process (过程) of writing poems makes me feel that I'm closer to people from Wuhan. I also feel that words are powerful and can carry deep emotions (情感)." Here is part of a poem written by Ma.

Skim and match

Liu Yixing & Li Yusheng

Write an English poem

Ma Qichao

Write a rap song

Matthew Lee

Encourage people to dance

2. Why did they do this?

Staying in is no problem

青少年在家“抗疫”，用创意鼓舞人心。

词数 540 测试见IV版
建议阅读时间 13分钟

It's been a long holiday. Because of the virus outbreak (爆发), many of us have already stayed at home for more than a month! How did you spend your time? Have you done anything special? During this difficult period, some teenagers have come up with new and interesting things to do. They have not only shown how creative they are, but also helped to cheer up (鼓舞) those who are feeling down. Let's see what they've been up to.

TEENS

Write a rap song

"I close my eyes and pray (祈祷) hoping everything will be OK/ the one who can save you is not God/ but an ordinary man in flesh and blood (血肉之躯)."

These are a few lines from a rap song written by Liu Yixin and Li Yusheng. They are Senior 3 students from The High School Affiliated to Renmin University in Beijing. Titled An Empty City (《空城》), the song has become a hit and touched many people. Liu told China Youth Daily that he has read many news stories recently, both good and bad. He wanted to express (表达) his own ideas with this song. "I love making music and used to have my own band. Music is the best way for me to express myself. After the college entrance exam this year, I'll make more," Liu said.

Encourage people to dance

Matthew Lee is a 16-year-old Chinese-American. He is now living in Los Angeles, US, but still feels worried about the outbreak in China. When he learned that most Chinese are unable to leave their houses, he decided to encourage them to exercise at home. So he made a dance video with his friends and posted it online. "My friend Jojo was excited about the chance to lift people's spirits (心情), and she said she would dance her heart out," Lee told TEENS. For the cooldown part of the dance, Lee chose the song We Are The World. As Lee said, "I believe that with sweat (汗水) and smiles, together, we will make a better day."

扫码可观看 Matthew Lee 的“挥汗战役”加油舞视频。

Write an English poem

Ma Qichao is a junior 2 student from Baoding, Hebei. Having to stay at home during the outbreak, Ma and his classmates wrote several acrostic poems (藏头诗) in English to help cheer people up. "My teacher suggested this form. I found it quite interesting. You can hide a message in the first letters of each line and surprise your readers as they read downwards," Ma said. "The process (过程) of writing poems makes me feel that I'm closer to people from Wuhan. I also feel that words are powerful and can carry deep emotions (情感)." Here is part of a poem written by Ma.

Scan and find out

Scan the news again and find out why they did these things.

Write a rap song

to express his own ideas with this song.

“I close my eyes and pray (祈祷) OK/ the one who can save you is in flesh and blood (血肉之躯).”

用这首歌曲表达自己的想法 express sth. with sth.

These are a few lines from a rap by Liu Yixin and Li Yusheng. They are Senior 3 students from The High School Affiliated to Renmin University in Beijing. Titled An Empty City (《空城》), the song has become a hit and touched many people. Liu told China Youth Daily that he has read many news stories recently, both good and bad. He wanted to express (表达) his own ideas with this song. “I love making music and used to have my own band. Music is the best way for me to express myself. After the college entrance exam this year, I’ll make more,” Liu said.

Why music?

KIT翌 已入驻

简介: 我是一名高三级的学生, 就

单曲 3 | 专辑 3

播放歌手热门歌曲

+

Listen and enjoy

“I close my eyes and pray (祈祷)/ hoping everything will be OK/ the one who can save you is not God/ but an ordinary man in flesh and blood (血肉之躯).”

Scan and find out

Scan the news again and find out why they did these things.

Encourage people to dance

Matthew Lee is a 16-year-old Chinese-American living in Los Angeles, US, but still feels worried about the outbreak in China. When he learned that most people were unable to leave their houses, he decided to encourage them to exercise at home. So he made a dance video with his friends and posted it online. “My friend Jojo was excited about the chance to lift people’s spirits (心情), and she said she would dance her heart out,” Lee told TEENS. For the cooldown part of the dance, Lee chose the song We Are The World. As Lee said, “I believe that with sweat (汗水) and smiles, together, we will make a better day.”

to encourage them to exercise at home

鼓励他们在家锻炼 encourage sb. to do sth.

Why dance?

Scan and find out

Scan the news again and find out why they did these things.

Write an English poem

to help cheer people

激励人们。

Ma Qichao is a junior 2 student from Baoding, Hebei. Having to stay at home during the outbreak, Ma and his classmates wrote several acrostic poems (藏头诗) in English to help cheer people up. “My teacher suggested this form.

I found it quite interesting. You can hide a message in the first letters of each line and surprise your readers as they read downwards,” Ma said. “The process (过程) of writing poems makes me feel that I’m closer to people from Wuhan. I also feel that words are powerful and can carry deep emotions (情感).” Here is part of a poem written by Ma.

Just stay on your path to guarantee (保证) our safety
Ignore other countries’ criticism (批评) and make your own contributions (贡献)
All of us are on your side and we are finding new solutions
You stand out as the “heroes in harm’s way” (逆行者) in this situation
Optimism can be significant (重要的) no matter what your position is
Use your strong power to overcome (战胜) this epidemic outbreak

cheer sb. up

Why poem?

Read and enjoy

Just stay on your path to guarantee (保证) our safety

Ignore other countries' criticism (批评) and make your own contributions (贡献)

All of us are on your side and we are finding new solutions

You stand out as the "heroes in harm's way" (逆行者) in this situation

Optimism can be significant (重要的) no matter what your position is

Use your strong power to overcome (战胜) this epidemic outbreak

"I found it quite interesting. You can hide a message in the first letters of each line and surprise your readers as they read downwards,"

What do you think of their activities at home?

Write a rap song

Encourage people to dance

special new creative interesting

It's been a long holiday. Because of the virus outbreak (爆发), many of us have already stayed at home for more than a month! How did you spend your time? Have you done anything special? During this difficult period, some teenagers have come up with new and interesting things to do. They have not only shown how creative they are, but also helped to cheer up (鼓舞) those who are feeling down. Let's see what they've been up to.

Write an English poem

TEENS

Words in use:

Please find out the 10 English phrases.

1. 成为热门
2. 感动许多人
3. 拥有自己的乐队
4. 表达自我
5. 鼓励某人做某事
6. 对...感到忧虑
7. 提升人们的志气
8. 尽情舞动
9. 激励某人
10. 带着深深的感情

Note: Write down the Chinese first and then turn to the paper for the English.

Staying in is no problem

青少年在家“抗疫”，用创意鼓舞人心。

词数 540 测试见IV版
建议阅读时间 13分钟

It's been a long holiday. Because of the virus outbreak (爆发), many of us have already stayed at home for more than a month! How did you spend your time? Have you done anything special? During this difficult period, some teenagers have come up with new and interesting things to do. They have not only shown how creative they are, but also helped to cheer up (鼓舞) those who are feeling down. Let's see what they've been up to.

TEENS

Write a rap song

"I close my eyes and pray (祈祷) hoping everything will be OK/ the one who can save you is not God/ but an ordinary man in flesh and blood (血肉之躯)."

These are a few lines from a rap song written by Liu Yixin and Li Yusheng. They are Senior 3 students from The High School Affiliated to Renmin University in Beijing. Titled An Empty City (《空城》), the song has become a hit and touched many people. Liu told China Youth Daily that he has read many news stories recently, both good and bad. He wanted to express (表达) his own ideas with this song. "I love making music and used to have my own band. Music is the best way for me to express myself. After the college entrance exam this year, I'll make more," Liu said.

Encourage people to dance

Matthew Lee is a 16-year-old Chinese-American. He is now living in Los Angeles, US, but still feels worried about the outbreak in China. When he learned that most Chinese are unable to leave their houses, he decided to encourage them to exercise at home. So he made a dance video with his friends and posted it online. "My friend Jojo was excited about the chance to lift people's spirits (心情), and she said she would dance her heart out," Lee told TEENS. For the cooldown part of the dance, Lee chose the song We Are The World. As Lee said, "I believe that with sweat (汗水) and smiles, together, we will make a better day."

扫码可观看 Matthew Lee 的“挥汗战役”加油舞视频。

Write an English poem

Ma Qichao is a junior 2 student from Baoding, Hebei. Having to stay at home during the outbreak, Ma and his classmates wrote several acrostic poems (藏头诗) in English to help cheer people up. "My teacher suggested this form. I found it quite interesting. You can hide a message in the first letters of each line and surprise your readers as they read downwards," Ma said. "The process (过程) of writing poems makes me feel that I'm closer to people from Wuhan. I also feel that words are powerful and can carry deep emotions (情感)." Here is part of a poem written by Ma.

1. 成为热门
2. 感动许多人
3. 拥有自己的乐队
4. 表达自我
5. 鼓励某人做某事
6. 对...感到忧虑
7. 提升人们的志气
8. 尽情舞动
9. 激励某人
10. 带着深深的感情

Staying in is no problem

青少年在家“抗疫”，用创意鼓舞人心。

词数 540 测试见IV版
建议阅读时间 13分钟

It's been a long holiday. Because of the virus outbreak (爆发), many of us have already stayed at home for more than a month! How did you spend your time? Have you done anything special? During this difficult period, some teenagers have come up with new and interesting things to do. They have not only shown how creative they are, but also helped to cheer up (鼓舞) those who are feeling down. Let's see what they've been up to. TEENS

Write a rap song

"I close my eyes and pray (祈祷) hoping everything will be OK/ the one who can save you is not God/ but an ordinary man in flesh and blood (血肉之躯)."

These are a few lines from a rap song written by Liu Yixin and Li Yusheng. They are Senior 3 students from The High School Affiliated to Renmin University in Beijing. Titled An Empty City (《空城》), the song has become a hit and touched many people. Liu told China Youth Daily that he has read many news stories recently, both good and bad. He wanted to express (表达) his own ideas with this song. "I love making music and used to have my own band. Music is the best way for me to express myself. After the college entrance exam this year, I'll make more," Liu said.

Encourage people to dance

Matthew Lee is a 16-year-old Chinese-American. He is now living in Los Angeles, US, but still feels worried about the outbreak in China. When he learned that most Chinese are unable to leave their houses, he decided to encourage them to exercise at home. So he made a dance video with his friends and posted it online. "My friend Jojo was excited about the chance to lift people's spirits (心情), and she said she would dance her heart out," Lee told TEENS. For the cooldown part of the dance, Lee chose the song We Are The World. As Lee said, "I believe that with sweat (汗水) and smiles, together, we will make a better day."

扫码可观看 Matthew Lee 的“挥汗战役”加油舞视频。

Write an English poem

Ma Qichao is a junior 2 student from Baoding, Hebei. Having to stay at home during the outbreak, Ma and his classmates wrote several acrostic poems (藏头诗) in English to help cheer people up. "My teacher suggested this form. I found it quite interesting. You can hide a message in the first letters of each line and surprise your readers as they read downwards," Ma said. "The process (过程) of writing poems makes me feel that I'm closer to people from Wuhan. I also feel that words are powerful and can carry deep emotions (情感)." Here is part of a poem written by Ma.

1. 成为热门
2. 感动许多人
3. 曾经拥有
4. 表达自我
5. 鼓励某人做某事
6. 对...感到忧虑
7. 提升人们的志气
8. 尽情舞动
9. 激励某人
10. 带着深深的感情

Words in use: Check and read

1. 成为热门
 2. 感动许多人
 3. 拥有自己的乐队
 4. 表达自我
 5. 鼓励某人做某事
 6. 对...感到忧虑
 7. 提升人们的志气
 8. 尽情舞动
 9. 激励某人
 10. 带着深深的感情
1. become a hit
 2. touch many people
 3. have one's own band
 4. express oneself
 5. encourage sb. to do sth.
 6. feels worried about ...
 7. lift people's spirit
 8. dance one's heart out
 9. cheer sb. up
 10. carry deep emotions

Homework

1. Try to find out more creative ways to spend time during this difficult time.
2. Read the text twice by yourself. You could log in this website for listening material.

https://teens.i21st.cn/index_je.html

Watch and dance

我们希望你们所有人都身体健康
We hope you all to stay healthy

二十一世纪英语教育传媒出品